Applicants will usually be advised of the anticipated timeline for the process. If you are successful in the shortlisting phase, you will be contacted and usually will be given at least three days' notice before your interview. If you are not shortlisted for an interview, you will be notified after the recommended person is endorsed.

If you are shortlisted for an interview, please advise if you have any concerns, questions or special needs.

During interview, you may be asked to complete other work-related tasks such as a presentation or a problem solving exercise. You will be given time to prepare for such an exercise and it will be related to the requirements of the position.

Tips for the interview:

- Re-read your application and the job description beforehand.
- Do not assume that any of the panel members know about your suitability for the job.
- Take time to answer each question. The panel will appreciate a well thought out answer presented clearly and concisely.
- Where possible, relate your answer to direct experiences you have had.
- When the opportunity is presented, feel free to ask any questions you may have, relevant to the position. If you do not have any questions do not hesitate to say so.
- Panel members will record your replies to the questions to assist them in accurately recalling your details when they are making their final decision. Do not feel put off by this or feel that you need to keep talking. The panel will ask for more information if required.
- Feel free to ask any questions about the position or the RIA.

Referee checks may occur as part of the short listing process, but are used more frequently following interviews. You should contact your referees before providing their names to ensure they are aware that they might receive a call for your reference check.

Withdrawing your application

If at any stage of the process you wish to withdraw your application from being considered, please contact the vacancy contact person named in the job advertisement.

Reaching a decision

Once the assessments have been completed, the panel makes a selection decision, and the process and outcome is documented. The most suitable applicant, as determined through their ability to meet the specified requirements, is recommended for appointment.

Advising Applicants

It is anticipated that you will be notified about the outcome of the selection process within eight to ten weeks of the closing date. If there is an unanticipated delay, you will be advised accordingly.

You will be advised of the result of your application in writing, via email. If you have been unsuccessful, you will be provided with information about who to contact for feedback on your application. If at any time you feel that your application has not been dealt with fairly, you are encouraged to discuss your concerns with the Panel Chair.

Regulation 7 of the Public Sector Management (Breaches of Public Sector Standards) Regulations 2005 allows you to lodge a Breach of Standard claim if you consider the Employment Standard have been breached and you have been adversely affected by the breach. You will be provided with information on how to do so at the end of the process.

It is important to note that the Regulations do not provide for a review to be undertaken on the basis that you consider yourself more competitive than the recommended applicant.

The successful applicant would be notified and would be informed of the further process of appointment.
