Diversity in recruitment

We strive to have a workforce that is representative of the diverse community we serve and encourage people from all backgrounds to apply.

We value differences and flexible thinking and ensure that our people feel supported to do their best work. We recognise that flexible work arrangements support health and wellbeing, empower our people and increase team productivity.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, youth and people with disability have been identified under our Workforce Plan and Equal Employment Opportunity Management Plan as diversity groups under represented within our workforce. Applicants from these diversity groups are strongly encouraged to apply and indicate in their application the diversity group(s) they belong to. When determining the most suitable person(s) to be appointed the selection panel will take these considerations into account.

Further strengthening our commitment to diversity the Department has the following in place.

- Traineeship and internship programs
- Aboriginal Employment Strategy
- Reconciliation Action Plan
- Disability Access and Inclusion Plan

Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander Applicants

We are committed to attracting and retaining Aboriginal people to improve equal opportunity outcomes for employees. This is reflected in our Reconciliation Action Plan which includes advancing the careers of Aboriginal employees and developing Aboriginal leaders. Aboriginal employees are invited to be part of the Aboriginal Employees Reference Group and access support from an Aboriginal mentor or buddy.

Events are held throughout the year that promote a positive, respectful and inclusive workplace. In particular National Reconciliation Week and NAIDOC Week are celebrated.
