About the role

We are seeking applications from eligible, qualified early childhood, primary and secondary teachers available for two years during the 2024 and 2025 school years.

The Teacher Flying Squad is a 'last resort' to provide support for schools struggling to fill a required teaching appointment for the school. A short term Flying Squad appointment is made whilst the school continues their efforts to recruit to their needs. As such, Flying Squad appointments are initially made while the school continues to try and resolve their longer term needs.

Teacher Flying Squad appointments are generally for periods of between four and ten weeks in a range of schools with differing needs. On occasion, there may be a requirement for shorter term appointments and cover unexpected leave as an example. The role requires teachers to be able to engage students quickly and readily and teachers will need to use a range of skills, have a strong knowledge of the curriculum and utilise effective classroom management strategies. Teachers who had had success in the Flying Squad are teachers whose approach is flexible and adaptive, with a practical mindset. Someone who can 'think on their feet'.

Flying Squad teachers provide support to schools and students in remote, rural and regional areas. This is a meaningful way to make a difference in your teaching career and enhance your own experiences.

Our Teacher Flying Squad members receive free accommodation and travel to and from the location of any appointment.

Our values

Our people are guided by our shared values and embody them in their work and interactions with students, parents and carers, each other and our wider communities. You are encouraged to familiarise yourself with them and represent them in your communications with us.

Eligibility

The Department has specific eligibility requirements for each job. The vacancy for which you are applying outlines these requirements. The following requirements must be met and maintained if you work at one of our schools:

- Working rights (including any visas)
- Criminal screening and other probity checks
- Working with Children Checks for child related work
- Qualifications and essential requirements for some roles.

Teachers and school administrators (Principals and other leadership positions in schools) are also required to maintain appropriate professional registration with the Teacher Registration Board of Western Australia. Find out more about the Teacher Registration Board at trb.wa.gov.au.

Working rights

Non-permanent residents with working rights, and temporary visa holders with working rights are eligible to be appointed to fixed term (temporary) positions. Some visas restrict the number of hours you can work, or the locations you can work in.

Please check this carefully before applying. It is your responsibility to maintain appropriate working rights while you are employed with us. If your situation changes, you must update us immediately.

Find out more about working rights, visas, and your personal situation through the Department of Home Affairs – homeaffairs.gov.au.

We have a strict 'no screen, no start' policy, requiring all prospective employees to have screening clearance prior to commencing employment with us. This is in the form of a screening clearance number (SCN), which is only granted when you have cleared the Nationally Coordinated Criminal History Check (NCCHC).

Writing your CV

Your CV is a summary of your work history, qualifications and experience. It is important that it is comprehensive yet concise enough that Principals can get a reasonable sense of who you are as a professional, to consider how you might complement their current staff, and the needs of the school.

Where you are able, set aside time with a colleague, or your line manager, to work through your CV with them. Having worked directly with you, they may be able to help you identify suitable examples to highlight, or provide feedback on the content of your CV.

Where relevant, include the outcomes of tasks, roles or responsibilities you have had. You may even align these to the Domains.

There is no standard template for your CV, as it should reflect your own style and experiences, however, we have included one on the following page to get you started. It contains some common elements which could be included, and examples in each section of how you may choose to represent your information.

Your name here

A:| your address

P:| your phone number

E:| email address

Teacher Registration:| registration number, state of issue, and expiry

Professional summary

This is a short paragraph outlining your experience, achievements, area of speciality, industry training, point of difference and the like. Think of it like an 'elevator pitch', and keep it to no more than a third of a page.

Here is an example:

I am an experienced and innovative classroom teacher, working across primary and district high schools in both primary and secondary environments. As a successful middle secondary teacher, and a numeracy and mathematics coordinator, I have developed several programs for my schools, and wider school community such as Melbourne High School mathematics community engagement program.

Having recently completed further university studies to qualify me to teach secondary mathematics to ATAR level, I am able to leverage my skill and enthusiasm for mathematics education, into teaching mathematics through to year 12.

Qualifications

Provide details of your teaching qualification. Also include any additional qualifications you have gained (ie. certificates to deliver VET courses). If it is not clear from the title of the qualification, provide a short summary of what you are qualified and prepared to teach.

You may also choose to change the heading to 'qualifications and awards' if you have received recognition for your work in a formal way.

Note: Professional development should not be included here. There is a section for this further down in the template.

For example:

2010 Bachelor of Education (Primary)

Melbourne University

2019 Graduate Certificate of Education (Mathematics)

Swinson University

This qualifies me to teach secondary mathematics up to year 10.

2020 Graduate Certificate of Education – Mathematics Education (Specialist and Methods)

Swinson University

This qualifies me to teach secondary ATAR Mathematics.

Relevant work history

The key word here is 'relevant' – consider what you include here, after you research the position. Think about your skills, experience and abilities in relation to the role that is being advertised. Making strong statements about your relevant work history and the outcomes achieved – rather than listing duties of the role – will allow the reader to better understand how you apply your knowledge, skills and abilities.

You should include:

- Positions that you have held that relate to the role, starting with the most recent.
- Details of these positions (ie. the name of the school or organisation, your position title, the dates that you worked there)
- Short statements about what you did in the role, key achievements or programs you were involved in.
- Shorter outlines for positions that were further back in your career.
- You need not include work history that is not relevant to the role (ie. unrelated part time jobs while studying)

For example:

2018 – 2021

Middle School Mathematics Teacher,

Numeracy Coordinator

Year 7 Head of Year Coordinator

Melbourne High School

While working in this role, I:

- Coordinated specialist support case management, in collaboration with parents, involving speech pathologists and therapists to develop and deliver differentiated curriculum for diverse groups of year 7 – 9 students, with disabilities and learning difficulties. As we neared the end of the year, I also worked closely with local primary schools to assist in the transition of year 6 students with special needs. All students and families were included in discussions, open nights and webinars, and transitioned well into secondary schooling.
- Assumed additional duties as the numeracy coordinator and mentored my colleagues in contemporary mathematics strategies. During my time in this role, the school had a noted improvement in their NAPLAN mathematics results. This was celebrated in the school community, leading to my development of the school's gifted and talented program for maths, and a mathematics outreach program.
- Engaged with the school community through being the staff representative on the school board, and an active member of the P&C.

My key achievements in this role:

- In collaboration with a colleague, I developed a community mathematics engagement program which invited parents into school after hours for a series of fun workshops. This resulted from conversations with my students' parents, who were anxious in helping their children with maths homework. Teachers across the school noted a twofold improvement from these workshops – a reduction in student anxiety about completing homework, and higher achievement levels. Due to their success, they ran for three years, and were attended by 49 families.

- Introduced online parent meetings (through Webex) across the school, offering working parents or those with other commitments the opportunity to engage with their child's teacher face to face. I upskilled colleagues and developed user guides for teachers and parents. In 2020, there were 43 online parent meetings and the school still offer it as an option.

Professional learning

Here, you would include relevant training or professional learning, other than your teaching qualification. This may change, depending on the role you are applying for. Ideally, as well as providing details of the training or professional learning, try and demonstrate how this has improved your practice or has made an impact for others.

You may organise these in date order, or group them according to type (ie. literacy training, digital technologies, community engagement etc). Unless it is specific to the role, there is a preference to capture only contemporary training and professional learning, from the last 3-5 years.

Optional: Professional associations

List all current professional associations (such as the Mathematical Association of Western Australia, WA Music Teachers Association, Australian Literacy Educators Association) including the type of membership and date joined.

Referees

It is important that you select referees that can accurately comment on your skills and abilities in relation to the position, and the claims that you have made in your application. It is important to have a discussion with your referees, so they are aware you have nominated them.

While it may not always be possible, you are encouraged to include your current line manager as a referee. Suitable alternatives may include a mentor teacher from your teaching practicum, a former line manager or head of department. They may be comfortable in providing their personal or mobile number, so they can be contacted during school holidays.

Remember to note their relationship to you at the time you worked with them (ie. current manager, former manager, former colleague).

Embedding cultural responsiveness

We expect that all staff in public schools are culturally responsive, and this should be evident within your written application.

Being culturally responsive requires a commitment to ongoing self-reflection, expansion of knowledge and improving practices through working collaboratively with colleagues and the community.

Your approach will be flexible and adaptive, as you understand the nuances and implications for your teaching, as you get to know students and their families.

You value and respect Aboriginal languages, cultures, people and their connection to Country, and see your students' cultural identities as a strength.

Access the Departments Aboriginal Cultural Standards Framework.

What happens next

This is a recruitment pool for appointments to be made throughout the 2024-2025 school years. You can submit an application at any time during the term of this pool. If you are placed in the pool, you may be contacted to discuss opportunities when vacancies arise in greater detail. Placement to the pool is not a guarantee of an offer of employment.

The role requires you to:

- be ready to go at anytime
- be flexible and resilient
- be able to engage students using a range of skills quickly and readily
- have strong curriculum knowledge
- be able to use effective classroom management strategies.

Your referees may be contacted about your performance in relation to the job-related requirements and/or to confirm information you have provided about your previous work experience. You can accept or decline appointments as offered and will generally remain in the pool for the school year.

If you are appointed to another position in the Department for a period of 3 months or greater you will need to advise our team. You can also withdraw from the pool at any time.
