Applying for an opportunity

Prepare your application

- The Department of Transport (DoT) encourages applications from every background, including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, people with disability, women, youth, members of the LGBTQIA+ community and people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds.
- Review the advertisement of interest to you and the Job Description Form (JDF).
- For further insight about the position, you may contact the person named in the advertisement.
- Follow the advertisement instructions for applying.

Provide a CV which includes:

work experience and achievements;

your education and training;

activities undertaken outside work relevant to the job you are applying for; and details of two referees.

Prepare a covering letter:

If the job advertisement asks you to address further requirements, you need to highlight how you meet the requirements by providing relevant examples of your skills and abilities from past work experiences and achievements.

Hint: You can use the SAO (Situation, Action, and Outcome) approach to address the requirements.

Eligibility

Australian Citizens and Permanent Residents, as well as New Zealand Citizens with unrestricted work rights are eligible for permanent and fixed term appointments. Temporary visa holders with valid work rights are eligible for fixed term appointment. To be eligible for appointment you need to be able to provide evidence of your right to work.

All positions at DoT have some level of mandatory screening to help verify a candidate's identity and integrity before an offer of employment is made - this includes the candidate obtaining a current National Police Clearance.

Hint: See how our values relate to you and incorporate that in preparing a cover letter and at interview.

COLLABORATION

Working together we get things done.

WELLBEING

Looking after ourselves and supporting others.

ADAPTABILITY

Always open to possibilities.

ACCOUNTABILITY

Taking ownership, we deliver.

Submitting your application

When ready, submit your application through jobs.wa.gov.au prior to the closing deadline.

Please ensure all items are attached at the time of submission.

Any applications received after the closing date and time cannot be accepted.

Our selection & assessment process

If shortlisted to the next stage, the selection panel may invite you to interview or use other approaches (e.g. participate at an assessment centre or providing work samples) to determine your suitability for the job.

Preparing for an interview

Review the JDF and the work-related requirements.

Think of examples which showcase your relevant skills and abilities.

Prepare a portfolio of your work (if applicable) to show your skills and abilities.

Reflect on how our organisations values of collaboration, accountability, wellbeing, and adaptability relate to you.

Arrive at your interview with adequate time to spare. You may be given time in advance to read questions and prepare notes for your interview.

During the interview, answer with enough detail and examples.

Remember to ask questions of the selection panel and seek clarification where needed.

Outcome and feedback

The selection panel will identify the best candidate for the job.

- You will be notified of the outcome and encouraged to seek constructive feedback. The feedback may help you in your future job applications.
- All advertised jobs of six months or greater are subject to a breach period. Any applicant who believes the Public Sector Employment Standard has been breached may lodge a formal application for a review.
- Once a breach period has closed the successful candidate will be notified and an offer of employment made.
