Preparing your application

To prepare for your application, please read the job advertisement, the Job Description Form (JDF), and any other information provided carefully so you feel confident you have the necessary skills and abilities to be successful in the position. Your application should always include a comprehensive CV, copies of any relevant qualifications, and any other details specified in the advertisement. You may also be asked to provide a cover letter or a written response to some questions or address some or all of the work-related requirements. Please read the advertisement carefully to ensure that you submit everything that we will need to assess your suitability.

TIP: Everyone who applies claims they have the skills required, so make sure you demonstrate to us that you do. You can strengthen your claims to have higher-level experience, knowledge, skills, and abilities about each work-related requirement by giving an example or scenario that demonstrates the level of knowledge and skills you were required to use to reach a desired outcome.

If the role you are applying for has an essential requirement for a qualification, please provide a copy with your application. If your qualifications were obtained from an educational institution outside Australia, an assessment of your qualifications from an authorised skills recognition authority will be required before commencement. It is recommended that you initiate this action immediately, if required, as it may take up to eight (8) weeks to arrange. Any costs associated with this will need to be met by you as the applicant.

Further clarification, however, may be obtained from an authorised skills recognition authority (e.g. the Secondary Education Authority for secondary qualifications), Education Department for tertiary qualifications, TAFE for technical qualifications, or the National Office of Overseas Skills Recognition for judgment.

As an applicant, you must provide sufficient information to enable the selection panel to assess your suitability against the specified work-related requirements.

Commissioner's Instruction 1: employment standard

The Department undertakes all recruitment, selection and appointment processes in accordance with the Commissioners' Instructions. We are committed to being fair and equitable in our recruitment decisions, making sure that the most suitable and available person(s) are selected and appointed.

Selection process

The selection panel (generally consisting of three people) will assess all written applications based on the information and documentation you have submitted and agree on a short-list of the most competitive applicants for further consideration. This will occur after the closing date.

The Department aims to attract the most competitive field possible and reserves the right to include a targeted search process for any advertised role.

The selection process for each position is unique and may include written assessment, psychometric testing, cognitive testing, job-rated tasks, face-to-face interviews, video interviews, reference checks, or other assessment methodologies to find the most suitable applicant for the position.

We endeavour to complete this process as soon as possible, but on some occasions, the availability of panel members and applicants may delay this process. If you'd like to check on the progress, please phone the contact person listed in the job advertisement.

Feedback and the review period

After the selection process, you will be notified of the outcome via email, and you are encouraged to seek feedback. This information may be valuable to you when you are looking for future job opportunities.

DPIRD utilises a four (4) day review period whereby unsuccessful applicants may lodge a formal application for a review of the process if they believe that the Employment Standard has been breached.

It is important to note that the regulations do not provide for a review of the process to be undertaken because you consider that you were more competitive than the selected applicant(s).

What happens next?

If you are a successful candidate and we have an upcoming vacancy to fill, we will contact you to discuss your appointment and commencement date, subject to you meeting the pre-employment/special requirements listed on the job advertisement and JDF prior to your appointment.

Thank you for your interest in working with us at DPIRD and good luck with your application!
